

SO MUCH TO REBUILD...

BESIDES EVERYTHING ELSE, THE PEOPLE OF HAITI WILL NEED ARMS AND LEGS.

The Profound Need, New York Times, January 23, 2010

February 2010, Mobility Restoration Begins

As the wounds from Haiti's earthquake continue to heal, the work of the Orthotic and Prosthetic Alliance and others in orthotics and prosthetics (O&P) is just beginning. O&P professionals have volunteered and are on the ground in Haiti, custom fitting sturdy orthotic and prosthetic devices, consistent with cultural demands, for the thousands of Haitians who lost or severely damaged their limbs during the earthquake. There are no quick solutions...but we will be there...these humanitarian needs will span an entire generation. To learn more, visit www.AOPAnet.org
