

A photograph of Barack Obama hugging a woman with prosthetic legs. They are standing in front of a large American flag. The woman is wearing a black dress and red shoes. The background is slightly blurred, showing trees and a building.

To live the American Dream arms and legs are not a luxury.

Please let Congress know you want them to support the bill that lets amputees get the replacement limbs they need without unfair limitations imposed by their insurance companies.

For more information go to aopanet.org or Amputee-Coalition.org or armsandlegsarenotaluxury.com.

Thank you.

